2.2 Interest rates

Variable interest rates

What are they?

An interest rate that could vary during the loan term.

What discount will apply?

Discounts vary depending on a range of factors, including but not limited to the product, purpose, repayment type and loan to value ratio. The discount is set at formal approval of the loan.

The rate applied to a loan account is calculated as a discount off one of four reference rates:

Reference Rate	Abbreviation	Basic home loan
Standard Variable Rate	SVR	Owner occupied loan with principal & interest repayments
Investment Variable Rate	IVR	Investment loans with principal & interest repayments
Standard Interest Only Variable Rate	IO SVR	Owner occupied loan with interest only repayments
Investment Interest Only Variable Rate	IO IVR	Investment loan with interest only repayments

For example, SVR = 5.70%, discount = 1.20%, effective interest rate = 4.50%

Who can have it?

Variable Interest rates are available on all our home loan products.

What if rates change between formal approval and settlement?

Borrowers will be charged the reference rate at settlement less their entitled discount. For example:

At formal approval: SVR = 5.70%, discount = 1.20%, effective interest rate = 4.50%

At settlement: SVR = 5.90%, discount = 1.20%, effective interest rate = 4.70%

Making repayments

The preferred repayment method can be selected by the borrowers in the Home loan repayment election form that is sent with the loan offer. The repayment options are:

- Direct debit: this authorises us to debit funds from a nominated account on a recurring, monthly basis. Direct debit is monthly only.
- Funds transfer: this requires a manual repayment to be arranged by the client each repayment cycle.
- Salary credit: this requires an arrangement to be initiated by the client with his/her employer, where the employer will deposit a portion of the client's salary into the loan account as a repayment on an ongoing basis.

Note: Post-settlement, repayment options can be changed in Macquarie Online.

Important: Post-settlement fees will always be direct debited from the account nominated by the client on the home loan repayment election form.

Additional payments

There is no limit or penalty to making additional repayments to loans with a variable interest rate. Additional payments can be made at any time.

Fixed interest rates

What are they?

Fixed interest rates are rates that will not change during a specified period 'term'. Terms of one to five years are available.

Who can have it?

- Fixed rates are available on all product types.
- During an interest only period, the fixed term must be less than or equal to the interest only period. For example, loans can have a 5 year interest only term that is fixed for 3 years, but not a 3 year interest only term that is fixed for 5 years.
- For construction loans, fixed rates are not available for a construction account in the construction period.
- Fixed rates are available however, for any other loan accounts within the facility.
- An offset account cannot be linked to a fixed loan account.
- Redraw is not available on accounts during the fixed term but any additional payments made (up to $10,000 per year) into the account can be accessed at the end of the fixed term.

How is it requested?

New clients: Indicate the preferred fixed period upon application.

Existing clients: Contact us on 1800 007 722 (+61 8245 4383).

What if rates change between formal approval and settlement?

For new loans, the interest rate will be fixed at the rate documented in the clients' loan offer. This is the rate they will receive at settlement, regardless of any subsequent rate movements.

To change to a fixed interest rate after formal approval but before settlement, a new loan application will need to be submitted and new loan offer documents issued.

Making repayments

The preferred repayment method can be selected by the client in the Home loan repayment election form that is sent with the loan offer. The repayment options are:

- Direct debit: authorises us to debit funds from a nominated account on a recurring, monthly basis. Direct debit is monthly only.
- Funds transfer: this requires a manual repayment to be arranged by the client each repayment cycle.
- Salary credit: this requires an arrangement to be initiated by the applicant/s with their employer/s, where the employer will deposit a portion of the client's salary into the loan account as a repayment on an ongoing basis.

Note: Post-settlement, repayment options can be changed in Macquarie Online.

Important: Post-settlement fees will always be direct debited from the account nominated by the client on the Home loan repayment election form.

Additional payments

Additional payments of up to $10,000 can be made each year of the fixed term for each fixed loan account. Additional payments above this threshold may incur break costs. The 12 month period is calculated from the date the fixed term commenced.

For example, a loan settled at the start of year 1 on a fixed rate; clients can pay up to $10,000 in additional payments until the end of year 1 (12 months later); at the start of year 2, the additional payment limit is reset and borrowers can pay up to $10,000 in additional payments until the end of year 2.

Note: Redraw funds are not accessible and cannot be withdrawn during the fixed period.

Break costs

Break costs may be payable if:

- a loan is repaid or discharged prior to a fixed rate expiring
- the fixed loan account is converted to variable prior to the expiry of the fixed rate period
- the loan repayment type is changed during the fixed period, e.g. from principal and interest to interest only
- additional payments exceed the maximum $10,000 per year threshold.

2.3 Fees

The fees in this table apply to either the Basic home loan or Offset home loan package and are current as at the date of this document.

The break cost could be substantial. Contact us for further information.</li> </ul>	✓	✓
Construction administration fee	$1,500	A one-off fee payable at settlement which covers valuation costs and progress payments during construction period.	✓	✓

Fee name	Amount or method of calculation	When payable	Offset home loan package	Basic home loan
Third party fees	At cost	Payable if the Lender incurs a fee from any third party, including our solicitors, as a result of any matter relating to the Loan Agreement or Security after the Settlement Date. This fee includes GST.	✓	✓
Third party settlement fee	At cost	Payable when the Lender incurs a fee from any third party, including our solicitors, as a result of any matter relating to the settlement of your loan.	✓	✓

Fee billing

Fees charged post-settlement are billed to a nominated loan account rather than being capitalised to the loan. Whilst the balance of the loan reflects the charging of the fee, the balance that is used to calculate interest does not include any fee amounts. Essentially this means that a client will not pay interest on a fee.

Clients are required to set up a direct debit for fee collection. This is established at application through the Home loan repayment election form and can be an offset account.

2.4 Loan term

What is it?

The length of the home loan.

How to nominate a loan term?

The loan term will automatically be set at 30 years, however loan terms between 5 to 30 years are available (excluding construction loans) at point of application. Loan terms must be in whole years only.

2.5 Redraw

What is it?

The redraw feature allows clients to access the additional payments made into their loan accounts over and above any required minimum repayments. This is not to be confused with funds deposited into an offset account which can also be available for withdrawal.

Who can have it?

Redraw is available on all variable rate accounts. Redraw is available on fixed loan accounts but can only be accessed at the end of the fixed term.

How does redraw work?

Any money deposited into your home loan over and above any required minimum repayments becomes the redraw balance. Depositing money into the loan will reduce the loan balance and therefore the interest paid on the loan.

Are there any fees or criteria that apply?

There are no fees or approval required to access money from redraw if it is done through Macquarie Online or the Macquarie Mobile Banking app. The daily Pay Anyone limit to transfer funds using Electronic Banking is $100,000 across all eligible accounts linked to a Macquarie ID if you are using the Macquarie Authenticator App. Otherwise the daily Pay Anyone limit to transfer funds using Electronic Banking is $5,000. There is no daily limit for funds transfers between Macquarie accounts with a BSB starting with 182. Typically, there is no limit on BPAY payments. Please be aware that some billers impose their own limits on the amount that they will accept in a single transaction or day.

How are funds accessed?

Funds can be accessed either through Macquarie Online or the Macquarie Mobile Banking app. Your client can log on to transfer from their loan account using either funds transfer or BPAY out. Available redraw balance can also be accessed by phone (fees may apply) by calling us on 1800 007 722 (+61 8245 4383), or through third party direct debits which is where a direct debit is set up with a third party which authorises them to collect money from the home loan account to pay bills.

2.6 Repayment types

Principal and interest repayments

What are they?

Principal and interest means clients pay the interest on the loan balance each month plus an amount that will repay the loan in the defined term (for example, 30 years). A principal and interest loan will reduce the borrowed amount each month. Clients must make regular minimum contractual repayments if stated in the loan offer.

Who can have it?

All products can have principal and interest repayments on both fixed and variable accounts except for a construction loan account.

Interest only repayments

What are they?

With interest only repayments clients are only required to pay the interest amount that is charged to their loan account. This means the principal will not be reduced over the interest only period. At the end of the interest only period (which can be up to 5 years), clients will revert to principal and interest repayments and must pay both interest on the loan plus an amount that will repay the loan off over the remaining loan term.

Important information for interest only loans

- Interest only is unavailable within the last 20 years of a loan term. For example, if a loan term of 23 years is requested, a maximum interest only period of 3 years is available at origination.
- For interest only applications, the nominated interest only period must align with the client's requirements. You will discuss with the applicant(s), and establish that each applicant appears to understand the following important information:
  - The interest rate on an interest only loan is usually higher than that of a principal and interest loan.
  - Interest only loan repayments will not pay off any principal during the interest only term, therefore the amount of equity that can be built-up in the home will be less with an interest only loan than with a principal and interest loan.
  - The repayments required to pay out the loan will increase after the interest only period ends to cover both principal and interest.
  - The applicant(s) will pay more interest over the life of their loan than if there was no interest only term.

Home Loans Product Guide

Who can have it?

All products can have interest only repayments on both fixed and variable accounts.

Interest only extensions

- The interest only period is a maximum initial period of 5 years and can be extended up to a subsequent 5 year period (subject to full credit assessment and approval), but must not exceed 10 years total from the original settlement date.
- A client is unable to request an interest only term greater than 5 years at any time.

Changing repayment types

Repayment types can be changed post-settlement on any variable Basic home loan and Offset home loan package. Changing repayment types during a fixed rate period may result in a break cost being charged to the client.

Principal and interest to interest only

- A loan that was originally established with principal and interest repayments may be converted to interest only repayments for a maximum of 5 years (subject to full credit assessment and approval).
- An interest only loan (at settlement) can convert to principal and interest and then be converted back to an interest only term again, subject to full credit assessment and approval. The new interest only term however, must finish within the first 10 years of the loan.

For example, consider a loan with a 30 year loan term which settled as interest only on 1 April 2010 and rolled off to principal and interest repayments after a 5 year interest only term, on 1 April 2015. After two years on principal and interest repayments, the client can convert back to interest only (subject to full credit assessment and approval), however the interest only term must end 1 April 2020 (10 years after settlement).

Interest only to principal and interest

A variable loan can be converted from interest only to principal and interest repayments at any time. No credit assessment or approval is required.

2.7 Repayment frequency

Repayment due date

What is it?

The date the home loan repayment is due.

Products	Repayment frequency	Principal and interest	Interest only
Basic home loan and Offset home loan package	Monthly	Based on the anniversary date of settlement <sup>11</sup>	Based on the anniversary date of settlement <sup>14</sup>

For Basic home loan and Offset home loan package, what happens if you settle on last day of the month?

If you settle on the last day of the month e.g. 31st and following and/or subsequent months don't have a 31st, your repayment will fall on the preceding day (e.g. 30th).

2.8 Repayment calculation

Principal and interest

What is amortisation?

Amortisation is another way of describing regular repayments to pay down principal over a certain period of time.

How is repayment amount calculated?

Repayment amount is determined based on the following:

1. Loan limit
2. Length of the loan (or 'term')

11. If a loan settles Monday 28 March, the first repayment will be due 28 April, regardless of whether or not this is a weekend or public holiday.

3. Number of repayments
4. Interest rate

The repayment amount consists of paying both a principal and interest component with the proportion of principal and interest changing over the term of the loan. At the beginning of the loan term, the repayment amount will have more interest than principal, whilst towards the end of the loan term, the repayment amount will have more principal than interest.

How can the repayment amount be consistent each month, when the number of days per month can vary?

To ensure consistent regular repayments throughout the term of the loan, we use a '30/360 day count basis', which assumes that each year has 12 equal months with 30 days each. This means that the repayment amount in February would be the same as in January or any other month (including leap years).

Can the repayment amount change over the life of the loan?

Yes, a repayment amount can change over the life of a loan. Events which may trigger a recalculation of the repayment amount include a change of interest rate, loan limit changes, redraw or the repayment type changes i.e. interchanging between interest only and principal and interest.

What is reamortisation?

Reamortisation is recalculating the repayment amount due to a change to rate, loan amount and rate type.

Where can I find the loan repayment amount?

The loan repayment is located in the loan offer document and is also available online, referred to as 'minimum monthly repayment'. If there have been changes to your loan, the current repayment amount will be available on Macquarie Online or the Macquarie Mobile Banking app and will not reflect the amount in your original loan offer document.

How is interest calculated?

Interest is calculated on the outstanding loan balance (net of any redraw, fees and offsets) on a daily basis which is capitalised to the loan balance on the client's repayment date. The daily interest rate applicable on the outstanding loan balance is based on an actual interest rate/365 day count basis. This daily interest rate is multiplied by the loan balance (net of any redraw, fees and offset) and is capitalised to the loan on each repayment date.

EXAMPLE 1 How daily interest is calculated

If your account balance is $140,080 at the end of the day, and your interest rate is 5.50% p.a. then the daily interest will be:

_____ X _____ = _____
Daily percentage rate* 5.5% ÷ 365		Daily account balance $140,080		Daily interest charge $21.11

What is the interest portion of your repayment amount?

The total interest charged in a month can be found on Macquarie Online or the Macquarie Mobile Banking app, or on a client's home loan statement which appears as the interest portion of the repayment amount.

2.9 Packages

What is it?

A 'packaged' loan refers to the Offset home loan package product that comes with:

- The option of a credit card with the primary cardholder annual fee waived whilst the home loan package is held
- Transactional access to the offset account with a Debit Mastercard®
- Annual package fee of $248 which covers up to 5 loan applications that are submitted and settled within 6 months, and where borrowers are common across each of the applications.

2.10 Offset account

What is it?

An everyday transaction account linked to a home loan account with a Platinum Debit Mastercard® offering 100% offset benefits.

How does it work?

- The offset account offers the same flexibility of an everyday transaction account and is linked to a Debit Mastercard®.
- Up to 10 offset accounts can be linked to one loan account for single and joint borrowers (up to 4 offset accounts per loan account can be requested at application stage).
- Offset accounts for company and trust borrowers must be requested at application stage. Up to 4 offset accounts can be linked to each loan account for company and trust borrowers.
- Offset account holders must be named borrowers on the linked loan account. For more information on who can be an offset account holder for individual and company offset home loan package applications refer below to 'who gets this feature'.
- No minimum balance, so every cent in the offset account will offset the balance of the home loan account it is linked to. Interest is offset only up to the linked home loan account balance.
- At origination, it is mandatory to establish a variable loan account on an offset home loan, with a minimum loan size of $20,000.
- The money in the offset account is offset daily against the balance of the loan account, and this reduces the daily interest charged on the loan account. For example, a variable loan of $300,000 is linked to an offset account which consistently has a balance of $100,000 for an entire month. For that month, interest is only calculated and charged on $200,000 loan balance (the loan amount less the offset account balance).
- The balance of the offset account can exceed the loan account limit it is linked to, however the excess offset account balance cannot be used to offset the debt in any other loan account, nor can it earn interest. For example, a variable loan of $300,000 is linked to an offset account which consistently has a balance of $400,000, whilst no interest is charged to the loan account for that month, the additional $100,000 in the offset account will not earn interest nor can it be used to offset the borrowers other loan accounts.
- The offset account is set up and available to use once your client has signed and returned their loan documentation. The offset benefits will commence once the offset account is linked to a home loan after settlement.
- No interest is earned on the balance in the offset account.
- If you request a full or partial discharge, offset benefits will cease from the day we create a payout figure.
- If additional funds are required to complete settlement, borrowers have the ability to authorise funds to complete from their Macquarie offset or transaction account ahead of settlement.
- An offset account cannot be linked to multiple loan accounts (see example below).
- An offset account cannot be linked to a fixed loan account.

Illustrated example of how an offset reduces interest charged:

EXAMPLE 2 Using an offset account to reduce interest charges

If you have $100,000 in your account and the balance of the linked loan account is $400,000, then interest will be charged on $300,000.

The diagram consists of three vertical bars representing account balances. The first bar, labeled 'Linked loan account balance', is a grey rectangle with a house icon above it and a value of '$400,000'. The second bar, labeled 'Offset account balance', is a grey rectangle with a dollar sign icon above it and a value of '$100,000'. A horizontal dotted line is drawn across the top of the second bar. The third bar, labeled 'Interest is charged on this portion only', is a black rectangle with a percentage icon above it and a value of '$300,000'. The top portion of this bar is grey, and its height is equal to the height of the offset account balance bar.

Illustrated example of how multiple offset accounts can be linked to loan accounts:

Multiple Offset Account

The diagram shows a vertical grey bar on the left labeled 'OFFSET HOME LOAN' with 'Mary Smith & John Smith' written vertically. Two lines branch from this bar to two boxes: 'A Variable Sub Account' (green) and 'B Fixed Sub Account' (grey). From the 'A Variable Sub Account' box, two lines branch to two black boxes: 'OFFSET ACCOUNT Mary Smith' and 'OFFSET ACCOUNT John Smith'. Each of these two boxes has a green checkmark to its right.

Illustrated example of how an offset account can only offset one loan account:

An offset account cannot be linked to multiple accounts

The diagram shows a vertical grey bar on the left labeled 'OFFSET HOME LOAN'. Two lines branch from this bar to two boxes: 'A Variable Sub Account' (green) and 'B Fixed Sub Account' (grey). From the 'A Variable Sub Account' box, a line with a green checkmark leads to a black box labeled 'OFFSET ACCOUNT'. From the 'B Fixed Sub Account' box, a line with a red 'X' leads to the same 'OFFSET ACCOUNT' box.

Who gets this feature?

The offset account feature is available only on the Offset home loan package product. For each individual offset account linked to a loan account, there cannot be any account holder that is not an account holder on the loan account.

2.13 Transaction accounts

What is it?

Clients now have the option to apply for a separate Platinum Transaction Account (Transaction Account) at the same time as they are applying for a Basic home loan.

How can clients apply for the Transaction Account?

When applying for the Basic home loan on behalf of the client, you can ask the client if they would like to open a Transaction Account as well. If so, select the check box next to “transaction account” in the online application.

It is important not to give ‘advice’ to the client about the Transaction account as home loan brokers are not licensed to do so. For example:

‘I recommend/suggest/think you apply for the Transaction Account’

‘You should/must apply for the Transaction Account’

‘Macquarie offers a great Transaction Account that you can apply for today’

If at any time the applicant changes their mind about applying for a Transaction Account, the broker must go back and deselect the option.

What if a client wants to open a Transaction Account after the application has been submitted?

You can only assist the client to apply for the Transaction Account at the time of submitting the home loan application. Should a client decide not to take up the option at the time of the application process, but contacts you later, you’ll need to refer them to macquarie.com.au/everyday-banking/transaction-account where they can open a Transaction Account online.

What if the client wants further information about the Transaction Account?

For information relating to the Platinum Transaction Account, clients can either call the customer service team or refer to the product information online;

- Terms and conditions
- Rates, fees and charges

Important note:

Your role in the process is to let the client know that they have the option to apply for a Transaction Account and select their election in the application.

In the course of letting clients know about their option to apply for a Transaction Account, you cannot promote, recommend, or give any advice or an opinion about the desirability of the Transaction Account including its features, interest rates or the product’s design. You must also never derive any benefits, including charging a fee, for giving clients the option to apply for the Transaction Account during their home loan application. These activities may amount to you giving financial product advice or dealing in a financial product and by law to engage in these activities in connection with financial products, an Australian Financial Services Licence (AFSL) is required. You may incur penalties such as fines if you provide financial product advice or deal in a financial product without holding an AFSL.
